Re: Sharing my food with the world!

Hi everybody!

You all know how much I love food: cooking, eating, sharing! Many of you have asked for recipes or tips and encouraged me to share my passion with others so I wanted you to be the first to know I've taken your advice! I am now working with a social sharing platform called Plates that allows me to sell my creations to hungry folks looking for home cooked food. Plates is focused on connecting cooks dedicated to healthy, slow-cooked, small-batch food with diners interested in the same priorities, so it made sense to partner with them as an early adopter of this technology.

I'm really excited about this opportunity and hope you'll join me in this new way of breaking bread together. Please download the app on either the AppStore or Google Play by searching for "Diner's Plates". Once you've set up your profile, search by setting the location to my town, "Averill Park", and looking for options offered by me, "Sydney Milne"! I'm planning to post my first meal next Thursday and every other Thursday after that. To start, I'll be offering to-go soup. Plates allows me to manage delivery, to-go and dine-in options so in the future I'll be hosting cooking classes at my place as well!

Plates is a brand-new start-up, with a mission to connect local artisan cooks with passionate food lovers around the world as a way to heal our physical bodies and our communities. You know I share this mission and I am asking you to join the movement as well. This is the early-adoption phase so as you interact with the app, you'll receive surveys and communications asking for feedback on your experience, or ways to improve, or even if you know others who might be interested in becoming a cook or diner on the platform. Please share! We all need to work together to make this successful. I encourage you to check out their website, subscribe to their blog/newsletter (I'll be featured soon!) and download the app (for Apple / for Android).

I can't wait to cook and bake for you!
